

Anthony Howarth

Anthony studied music, but then went on to study Theology. After his training he accepted a pastorate with a church in Colne. Later he worked for a charity helping people with addiction issues. Following this, he accepted a pastorate in Barrowford. Anthony has sensed for some time a calling to the Anglican church. Anthony is married to Diane and has three teenage children, Nico, Sophie and Evie. In his spare time he plays the drums in a band and participates in several martial arts. He also loves reading and going to the cinema.