

Sara Marriott

After initially starting out as an environmental chemist, Sara has spent the last 15 years as a teaching assistant at a local secondary school. This position allows her to engage in interfaith conversations with students and staff alike. Married to Adam, she embraces her East Lancastrian roots with pride and has a passion for hospitality, birding, and boxing. Her calling to ordination is driven by a heartfelt desire to inspire others to discern their gifts and to love being in love with God. She is excited to be serving her curacy at Immanuel, Feniscowles and St Francis, Fenisccliffe.
