4. The lawful bases for processing your personal information

The Review Team will process your personal data on the following lawful bases:

Personal data

- Legitimate interest – the Review Team will need to process personal data to undertake the review, in order that the institutional Church of England can take steps to enhance and improve its response to allegations of abuse and working practices, thereby ensuring a safe environment for all.
- Consent – we may need to process additional information held by the police and law enforcement agencies where your consent is required, and you have consented to us doing so for the purposes of the Review. You have the right to withdraw consent at any time by contacting us using the contact details provided in section 9 below.

Legitimate Interest Assessment

We have undertaken a Legitimate Interest Assessment the summary of which sets out why we have a legitimate interest.

We have a specific purpose with a defined benefit	The purpose of the review is to advise and recommend to the institutional Church of England improvements to its response to allegations of abuse and its safeguarding working practice, thereby ensuring a safe environment for all.
The processing is necessary to achieve the defined benefit.	The institutional Church of England would be unable to address any failings as these would not be known or understood, and would be less able to improve practice, or to address the concerns and needs of survivors.
The purpose is balanced against, and does not override, the interests, rights and freedoms of data subjects.	Data subjects have a joint interest in learning from the review and understanding what happened and what needs to be done to improve practice and survivor support. Data subject involvement is a key component of the review, and measures are in place to protect their rights and freedoms.

For a copy of the full Legitimate Interest Assessment, please contact Andrew Cooke whose contact details are set out at section 10 below.

Special categories and information relating to criminal convictions and offences

- Substantial public interest (protecting the public against dishonesty etc.) – the Review Team may need to process your information where necessary for the protection of members of the public generally against seriously improper conduct, and from any failures in connection with, the institutional Church of England’s activities, or for safeguarding purposes.
